MONEY, STOCKS AND BONDS.

The Market Dull, with Only Missouri Pacific and Lackawanna Showing Any Life. NEW YORK, Dec. 21 .- Money on call was easy, ranging from 4@6 per cent., the last loan being made at 4 per cent., closing offered at 3 per cent.

Prime mercantile paper, 534@712 per cent. Sterling exchange quiet and steady at $4.80% for sixty-day bills and $4.8412 for & Western, 12,509; Lake Shore, 4,600; Missouri Pacific, 17,820; Reading, 7,200; St. Paul, 5,825; Union Pacific, 4,760.

The general liquidation which has taken place in the stock market during the past few days made to-day's market an extremely dull one, without special feature of any kind. Only two stocks, Missouri Pacific and Lackawanna, showed any life whatever, and both, after advancing somewhat, retired again, lesing most of the improvement. Outside of the two stocks mentioned there seemed to be no speculative interest in the market, but foreign houses were buying on a limited scale, chiefly St. Paul and Union Pacific. There was liberal buying of Missouri Pacific at the opening, and it rose rapidly and steadily until it was within 1s per cent. of its yesterday's highest figure, at 7412. It then as rapidly retired to the opening figure and closed at a slight advance. Lackawanna was inclined to heaviness in the early trading, but toward the close there was a good demand for the stock at advancing prices, but it also sagged off before the close. The opening of the market was strong at advances over last evening's prices, extending to 12 per cent., but, st advances over last evening's prices, extending to 12 per cent., but, except in the stocks mentioned, the fluctuations were confined within the narrowest limits, and no decided tendency in either direction was shown, though a firm tone marked the dealings as a rule. The unexpectedly favorable bank statement gave character to the final dealings, and the close was firm though dull, generally at insignificant changes from the opening prices. The final changes are all for small fractions, with advances largely in a majority. Railroad bonds were relatively more active than stocks, the sales of all issues reaching $657,000 for the two hours' session, and while a firm tone generally prevailed, there were few changes of importance to record.

The Iron Mountain fives and the new Wabash seconds were the features, both being active and strong, though the latter reacted toward the close. Sales for the week were $7,263,000, against $7,875,000 last week. Government bonds were dull and steady. State bonds were dull but firm. Closing quotations were:

TRADING AT CHICAGO.

Wheat Advances Fully a Cent-Corn Higher-Oats and Pork Lower.

CHICAGO, Dec. 31 .- Speculative trading in wheat reached very fair proportions, and a stronger feeling was developed in the market. Outside news was all more or less of a bullish tenor, and assisted the buoyancy of the market. There was fair buying on long account, but the demand was supposed to come mainly from "shorts" who were forced to cover, not liking the change which has come over the market in the last few days. A prominent New York trader was reported as covering a large line through a Chicago house, and another firm was credited with baying very freely on long account. The market opened at about the closing figures of yesterday to 1sc better. ruled firm, and prices gradually advanced 7sc then receded 3sc, again advanced to the full outside figures, ruled firm and closed about 1c higher than yesterday. Operators were of the impression that there was considerable realizing at the advance by par-ties who had bought previous to the re-cent advance. Still, the market held up well and the closing was apparently quite strong. Cable advices were, on the whole, not quite as encouraging to holders as yes-terday. Estimates on the visible supply vary from a probable decrease to a slight increase. A fair trade in corn was transacted within a narrow range, and the feeling developed was a trifle firmer, the market sympathizing with wheat. Transactions were in the main local and principally in January, May and July. The market opened at about the closing prices of yesterday, was easy at first, but soon of yesterday, was easy at first, but soon became stronger, advancing \(^14\omega^3\) sc, ruled easier and closed a shade higher than yesterday. There was more disposition to sell the oats futures. The business transacted was only moderate, but a weaker feeling existed and prices declined \(^1\) sc. In mess pork rather more was doing and the market was weaker. Prices ruled \(^10\omega^{12\cdot2}\) c lower early in the day, but rallied \(^21\gamma^{0}\) 5c and closed comparatively steady. Only a fair closed comparatively steady. Only a fair trade was reported in lard. Prices ruled about .02½c lower and closed steady. In short-rib sides more was doing and the market was weaker. Prices ruled fully .05c lower early, but closed with more steadiness. The leading futures ranged as follows:

INDIANAPOLIS MARKETS.

Trade Very Quiet, Except in Holiday Goods -Fluctuations in Values Unimportant. INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 21.

In the different branches of business dullness is the leading characteristic, unless it be with the merchants who handle goods most in demand at holiday times. The remaining days of the year but little business is looked for by the wholesale men. They will finish up the taking account of stock and foot up the business of the year and prepare for the new year, which is entered certainly under favorable auspices. The money market is easy, the crops are moving briskly, and there is a healthy tone to the business situation generally. In prices today there were no changes of importance. Coffees carry a strong tone and a further advance on roasted grades is highly probable. Sugars rule easy, and the same is true of canned goods. The idea of a scarcity in canned goods is dying out, and the tendency to higher prices has been, as a consequence, checked. The provision market is quiet at unchanged prices. The produce markets are active. As usual a few days before Christmas, poultry is in good demand at quotations, and indications are that the market is not to be overstocked. In game little is doing. Rabbits can hardly be sold, and the time to kill quails is past. There are some on the market, how-ever, which have been kept over for some days. Eggs and butter both rule weak on large receipts. Apples and oranges are both firmer and selling more briskly. Other markets present no new features. GRAIN. There is nothing that is good that can be said of the local market. The attendance on 'Change every day this week has been slim and the bidding of a character to indicate that dealers were not in a buying mood, and with this prices have ruled easy. FRATERNITIES AND ORGANIZATIONS. Odd-Fellows.

Canton Indianapolis meets to-morrow night in regular cantonment. Capital Lodge conferred the first degree on Friday night. New costumes have been ordered by the lodge.

There will be an initiation at Meridian Lodge on Wednesday night, and the mem-bers of city lodges are invited to be present. It would be well for members of the various lodges of the city to note that this week and two days of next well end the year and quarter.

Fidelity Lodge, D. of R., will meet to-morrow night on Virginia avenue, and Olive Branch Lodge will meet at Odd-fellows' Hall on Saturday night. In both lodges of-ficers will be elected. The visit of Shelby Lodge degree staff to this city has had a good effect on the staff itself. Since the visit new features have been added to the work and increased in-terest is observable, as well as impressive-ness in the beautiful ceremonies. On Tuesday and Wednesday nights thirty members of the Louisville Light Infantry were initiated into Azur Lodge, of Louisville. Not one of them was more than thirty years of age. They will go into Canton Underwood, of that city, and as they have the reputation of never having been beaten in a prize drill, the Hoosier cantons will have to look to their langels.

Lodges will be organized soon at Crown Point and Milford Koerner Lodge conferred the second rank upon one candidate on Monday night. Star Lodge conferred the second rank upon five candidates on Tuesday night. Center Lodge conferred the third rank upon eight candidates last Tuesday night. Olive Branch Division will give a ball and reception at Masonic Hall Tuesday

The ball given by Excelsior Division, at Masonic Hall, Thursday night, was a very successful affair. Lucullus Lodge was instituted at Bourbon Wednesday night, with thirty-two charter members. Marion Lodge conferred the second rank upon one candidate, and also had one candidate for the third rank, on Wednesday night.

Excelsior Lodge conferred the amplified third rank upon five candidates, received three applications for membership, and nominated officers for the ensuing term on Friday night. Immediately following the death founder Rathbone, several new lodges that were about ready to be instituted made a request of Grand Chancelor Suit to be given the title of Rathbone Lodge. Waveland was given the title, as her application was the first received. A lodge cannot be named after any living person. Sicilian Lodge was instituted at Pendle-ton Thursday night, with thirty-four charter members. Past Grand Chancelor Heiskell had charge of the work. A number of members from this city and Munncie Division assisted in the work. About 250 persons were present, twenty-five lodges being repsented. The lodge starts out with having furnished a new hall complete. Indianapolis Lodge conferred the amplified third rank upon ten candidates on Thursday night, two of the number receiving the three ranks by special dispensation. Frank Linton and two other members of his dramatic company assisted in the work, which was highly spoken of by all present. At the conclusion of the work fifteen pilgrims were given the Orient degree. A committee composed of three members from each of the nine lodges of the city met at the committee-rooms of Castle Hall. on Tuesday night, to make arrangements for ceremonies in memory of the late Justus H. Rathbone, founder of the order. An organization was perfected by the selection of W. L. Heiskill, of Star Lodge, chairman; Richard Smith, of Capital City Lodge, Secretary, and Charles J. Many, of Marion

Lodge, treasurer. A lodge of sorrow, with addresses and music, will be held at Tomlinson Hall, at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Jan. 5. Gen. Wm. Ward, of Newark, N. J., supreme chancellor of the world, will probably be secured to deliver the principal address. The members of all the local lodges, together with the five divisions of the Uniform Rank, will take part in the cere-monies. The committee will hold another meeting to-morrow night.

Knights and Ladies of Honor. Indiana Lodge will elect officers Thursday evening.

Mr. Charles G. Coulon, of Elizabeth Lodge, has been appointed district deputy grand protector of this city. Dr. J. J. Cole, of Washington Lodge, will start to-morrow on an extended trip through Illinois and Missouri.

District Deputy Grand Protector Mrs. M. C. Contor recently instituted a lodge at Mt. Vernon, with a large charter list. Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Levi and Lena Kornfeld, formerly of North Vernon, have deposited their cards with Indiana Lodge. The special committee appointed to draft a preamble for the propaganda will meet to-morrow evening with Washington

The Rev. W. F. Filmore, of Illinois, chairman of the Supreme Lodge committee on state of the order and secret work, was in the city Wednesday last.

Washington Lodge received one application and conferred the degree upon one applicant last Monday evening. It will have work in the degree to-morrow evening. At a regular meeting of Compton Lodge. held last Wednesday evening, the follow-ing officers were elected for the ensuing term: Past protector, George B. Wren; protector, Mrs. Emma Watts; vice-protector, Mrs. Dougherty: chaplain, J. H. Wirtz; secretary, Mrs. I. SWINDLING "OUR UNCLE."

sively Worked on European Pawnbrokers.

The "Violin Trick" Which Has Been Exten-

Chicago Mail.

This case I had in mind was quite a winner in England. I don't know whether it ever got out here or not, but I 'spose it did, there isn't much in the way of chicanery that we pass by. It was worked in this way: A man takes an old-looking violin to a pawnbroker and tremulously negotiates a loan of a few dollars thereon. He is of the shabby genteel musician type, and he fondles the instrument lovingly, but without ostentation, and represses a sigh as the pawnbroker puts it away on a shelf with a tag attached. Then he goes away.

A few days later a well dressed, prosperous-looking man happens in looking for ous-looking man happens in looking for bargains in diamonds. He brings into the bargains in diamonds. He brings into the shop with him an atmosphere of wealth. He is attired with simple, gentlemanly elegance, and has a bearing which can only be interpreted as meaning solid prosperity. He looks at a number of diamonds and finally selects one which has no duplicate in the entire display and asks the price. Then he says he thinks he knows where there is a stone to match it. He will call in at the place in a day or so and see, and if it is a match he will pay the price and an extra $25 as a grateful "bit."

Just as he is about to go he catches

Just as he is about to go he catches sight of the violin on the shelf and asks to look at it. After having taken it in his hands and looked at it a pleased expression overspreads his face and he asks for a bow, with which he rasps out a few rich chords. He is noticeably agitated, but apparently tries to conceal it.

"What's the price of that instrument?" he asks.

yard, 222 South Meridian, and Branch Office, 105 North Delaware street. "It isn't for sale," replies the pawnbroker. "I'll give you $100 for it," says the man "I can't sell it," returns the pawnbroker BINDERS, REAPERS AND MOWERS. regretfully. "It's pledged here."
"A genuine Stradivarius," murmurs the man half to himself. "Worth $500 at the Headquarters for Indiana, 167 & 169 E. Washington st., Indianapolis, Ind. J. B. HEYWOOD, Manager.

least calculation." Then to the man of loans he says: "Do you think you can buy that instrument for me?" The practicer of usury doesn't know. If the gentleman wishes it he will try. How much would he be willing to pay for it

"I'll pay $500 for it." declares the man. "It's one of the rarest instruments in the world. Buy it for me at whatever price you have to pay.' The Jew agrees to do this, seeing a neat profit in it for himself, and the man goes away, promising to call in later. A day or so afterward in comes the shabby genteel musician with his pawn-ticket. He has weathered the financial storm and wants his instrument. The pawnbroker asks him if he wouldn't like to sell it, whereat the musician looks at him with a smile expressive of the extreme improbability of such a thing, and shakes his head. The pawnbroker offers him $50 for it, but the musician declines. It is his dearest possession, he says; it has been his companion in prosperity, his solace in poverty. He is very poor, but not so long as he can continne to eke out an existence will he part with this darling of his heart. It is very old: very valuable. The pawnbroker gets excited and offers bim $100; then $150; then $200, and seeing the musician is sorely tempted he over-whelms him with an offer of $250, which the poor man, driven to it by stern necessity, accepts, and after a fond farewell to his beloved violin rushes out of the place with tears in his eyes. The pawnbroker puts the fiddle carefully away and waits for the wealthy man to come around and pay him $500 for the instrument; but he waits in vain. The fiddle is worth $6 or $7, possibly, and is a drug in the market at that figure. The shabby genteel musician and the prosperous diamond buyer meet and divide the spoils and go into another quarter of the city to work their nefarious scheme. And they work off a goodly number of $6

THE SLEEPY SENATE OF BRAZIL. Senators Who Hold Office for Life, and Die in Their Places.

violins at prices ranging from $100 to $250.

There's a neat profit in it.

"The Senate of the United States pre-sents a remarkable contrast with that of Brazil." said an attache of a South American legation to a Post reporter as he eyed critically the various Senators from the gallery yesterday. "I have heard a great many remarks bordering on reflections about the 'sleepy' proceedings of the Senate, but to have that adjective applied appropriately and literally it should be transferred to the Brazilian Senate. The cause of this fact is one which has been very instrumental in bringing about the revolu tion. In Brazil Senators hold office for life, and take a so-called active part in the legislation of the country so long as they can be carried to the Senate chamber and set up. "A view of the Brazilian Senate reminds one of a hospital for the infirm and aged with here and there a man of some bodily vigor thrown in. As a rule at least a third of the Senators are so old that they fall asleep after sitting in the Senate chamber for half an hour, and even on important oc-casions of debates it is impossible to keep them awake long enough to hear the argument of the younger men, they never at-tempting anything like an address themselves. I remember on one occasion counting thirteen of these aged legislators sit-ting in their chairs asleep while one of the ablest debaters was addressing the body.

"Toothless, eyes bleared, and the picture of corpses, many of them, they make a woeful group. There are, of course younger and able men in the body, who do the real work of enacting legislation

"One of the points on which the people of Brazil lay stress is that some competitive system be adopted by which live men will control the interests of the country, and a term of office of four or six years will not allow the present condition of affairs there to be continued. One of the first things I anticipate hearing of the reorganization of the Brazilian government is a change to correct this evil."

The Too Considerate Conductor.

St. Paul Pioneer Press.

If a certain conductor on the Milwaukee railroad ever read Burdette's account of his feelings when, upon the information of a lady passenger, he hurled an umbrella from a car window, to learn shortly afterward that it belonged to a gentleman in the smoking apartment, he must have appreciated its force a night or two ago. As the conductor in question came through the car after it had left Tomah, a passenger, evidently of the kind that makes the business of everybody his own, called the official's attention to a hat that rested in a rack, apparently without an owner in sight, and esserted that the owner had alighted at Tomah. When the train met the up express at New Lisbon, the conductor asked his brother official on the latter to carry the hat back to Tomah in search of its quondam owner. As the train left Portage the conductor, on his way through, espied a sleeping passenger who apparently had no dicer. A second glance, and the look that covered his countenance defies reproduction. It was a sort of I-am-willing-to-buy-thedrinks-if-you-don't-say-a-word expression.
He awakened the passenger and asked him where his hat was. The passenger was dazed, rubbed his eyes, and began to look around. He searched in vain. The conductor informed him and it cost the poor would-be-courteous official $4 to make good the battered affair that was being separated from its owner at the rate of sixty miles an hour.
